

NYC TO ANSWER PROTESTS JUNE 14

Abandonment of Trains Is "Great Hardship," Writes Mayor Glahart

The New York Central railroad yesterday was given by the state utilities commission until June 14 to answer protests of residents living between Columbus and Toledo against abandonment of two trains.

The trains, No. 7 northbound and No. 8 southbound, have not run since the general curtailment of service during the coal strike. The Central asked the state utilities commission today for permission to drop the runs permanently.

They ran via Kenton, Findlay, and Bowling Green. Protests included one from Mayor Clifford E. Glahart of Findlay, who said the abandonment would work a "great hardship" on his city. "We are so geographically situated," he wrote, "that the traveling public depending on train service experienced enough difficulty getting in and out of Findlay even with the service we had prior to curtailment." The road also asked permission to abandon trains No. 2 and 3 between Columbus and Charleston, W. Va. Protests also were received but no date set for an answer.

AIRPLANE CRASH FATAL TO YOUTH

McGUFFEY, June 3 — A Findlay county youth was dead Thursday night and another youth was in grave condition in a Kenton hospital because they flew a Liacomb plane low in what is termed a "buzz" to attract the attention of a girl friend.

Don R. Wright, 16, Kenton, a passenger in the plane piloted by Walter Baum, 18, also of Kenton, died Thursday night in Kenton San Antonio hospital from injuries sustained when he was crushed in the falling plane. Baum was in the same hospital suffering from critical injuries and given a "bare chance to recover."

Herbert Lentz, a farmer residing near the John Kraft farm south of McGuffey where the plane crashed into a field at 6:45 p. m. said the craft was flying very low, not over 200 feet from the ground and seemed unable to regain altitude. Lentz said the plane went into a power dive and the craft was demolished.

Hanson's ambulance from Alger took the injured youths to the Kenton hospital. State highway patrolmen from the Lima barracks reported that Baum was flying a plane owned by the Kenton School of Aeronautics.
