

CIO DRAWS UP ITS BLUEPRINT FOR PEACETIME

Formal Policy Statement Issued; Council Demands High Living Standard

Formal statement of the CIO policy regarding the reconversion period was issued Saturday by Joe Emmons, executive secretary of the Lima Regional CIO Council.

"Now is the time to think in terms of a future that will be the result of the millions of fighting men who will be returning to their homes to make opportunities in a peaceful world," the official declared.

"American labor and management provided the energy and determination which provided the munitions for the achievement of victory. We now must continue to join forces to convert the machines and implements of war into the tools of peace which will provide economic plenty and the highest standard of living ever before enjoyed on this or any other continent."

Emmons stated that CIO policy calls for nine specific steps to assure continued full employment.

First, it provides for breaking the Little Steel Formula regulating wages. Next, it advocates federal legislation to establish a 65-cent hourly minimum wage. Then, federal legislation to assure unemployment insurance of $25 for 26 weeks is urged.

Fourth, the CIO stands for passage of the Murray full employment bill which would give the federal government the responsibility of keeping in touch with where and when unemployment is anticipated and to do all possible to prevent unemployment.

The fifth point of opposition to the Burton-Ball-Hatch bill which, according to Emmons, if passed, would destroy peaceful labor-management relations. As a sixth point, the organization is supporting passage of the Wagner-Murray-Dingell bill to increase social security and provide naturalized health insurance.

Support of the Wagner-Ellender housing bill is a seventh phase of the program while an eighth is support of a permanent federal employment placing agency. The final point in this program is support of the Bretton Woods and San Francisco charter agreements.

Pity The Sneezer's Beezer

August Is Bad Month For Hay Fever Victims And Lima's Weeds Don't Help Him

August, when hay fever predominates and pollen takes to the air like a duck takes to water, is causing hay fever sufferers more misery this year than in recent years.

Due to manpower shortages and lack of city equipment, ragweed, flourishing on city-owned lots four and five feet high, is causing Mr. Sneezer a great amount of discomfort.

For Mr. Sneezer will duck out of a pollen-infested draft like a soldier in a fox hole ducks from a shell, if its within his power to do so. But sometimes circumstances are beyond his control.

While riding on a bus, he'll pick a corner free of drafts and settle down with a contented grin, until a tot in the seat ahead or a preening female opens a window—then the explosions begin.

Or, friend wife demands that the dining room window be open while partaking of food, and the sweet summer breezes, infested with pollen, twitch Sneezer's nose and soon food is virtually flying.

Or, the sweet young energetic, "things" at the office, demand that all doors and windows be open, thus sending Sneezer into a series of eruptions that cause havoc among the office force.

Hay fever, described as a catarrhal affection of the mucous membranes of the eyes and respiratory organs, occurs annually in the spring and late summer, and is chiefly caused by inhaling pollen of various plants or weeds, to which those subject to the disorder are especially sensitive—or explosive.

What can be done about it? One physician suggests a skin test whereby a series of serum injections can be given to relieve the condition. Another physician declared there are two sure cures—either stop breathing, or escape to a cold climate.

In most cities, a pollen count is taken daily whereby a cubic foot of air is captured in a container and pollen grains are numbered. On warm, humid days the pollen count may be around 2,000, which would cause any number of snoots to twitch. On wet, cool days, the pollen count may be around 75, thus assuring a hay fever victim of a little comfort.

But, until city weeds and garden flowers are obliterated by frost, the hay fever subject will continue to suffer—unless he travels to the ice infested plains of Alaska where the penguins and polar bears play.

The life expectancy of man has doubled since the 18th century, from 30 years then to above 60 today.
