WIDOW OF THOMAS J. WILEY IS DEAD

Expires Last Evening at Her Home on South Main Street After Two-Year Illness.
 Mrs. Mary Matilda Wiley, widow of Thomas J. Wiley and a pioneer resident of this city, died Monday evening at 7:15 o'clock at her residence, 417 South Main street, where she has been in failing health for the past two years.
 Mrs. Wiley, who is 89 years of age, was born in Piqua on March 13, 1834, a daughter of the late Josiah and Eliza Finrock. She resided in Piqua all of her life and on May 19, 1864, was married to Thomas J. Wiley. She was the oldest living member of Greene Street M. E. church and had always been active in the affairs of the church.
 Surviving her are a son and daughter, T. Rey Wiley and Miss Grace Wiley, both of Piqua; a grandson, Thomas R. Wiley, member of the Denison college faculty at Granville, Ohio, and a great granddaughter, Caroline Duke Wiley of Granville.
 Funeral services will be held at two o'clock Thursday afternoon from the late residence with burial at Forest Hill cemetery.

Delinquent Tax Payments Under Discussion Here
 The Board of Education discussed the effect of delinquent tax payments on its bonded debt, at its meeting last evening. Piqua schools have not defaulted in any bonded obligations, nor has it been necessary to refund any of its bonds, but the situation is fast approaching a point when something must be done. Each year the county auditor established a tax levy sufficient to meet sinking fund requirements, but if there is any delinquency at all it reduces the amount available to pay obligations. So far the credit of school bonds has been good despite tax delinquencies, because the Board carried a surplus of from $6,000 to $10,000 during normal times in its sinking fund. But this year, because of about 10% to 12% delinquencies in each of the past two years, this balance has disappeared and there will be a deficit of about $250. The Board is authorized by law to issue refunding bonds to take care of this, which bonds are to be paid when delinquent taxes are paid, but no action was taken by the Board last night.
 The Board did feel happy over what it has done to its bonded debt since 1924 when it was at its maximum of $601,000 because of the two new junior high school buildings. At present the entire bonded debt is $338,000, which represents a reduction of $273,000 in nine years. Annually a further reduction is being made of $18,000 junior high and $8,000 in senior high building debt.
 The members of the Board feel that the whole community should know of this splendid showing and rejoice over this reduction.
 Incidentally it should be said that the same careful management is made of all school funds. This explains why the members of the Board are so solicitous about the success of the three mill levy upon which the citizens are to vote Tuesday, November 7. The levy must pass if the Board is to continue its splendid record of keeping the schools open with a substantial reduction of its debts.

 Covington, O., Oct. 24.—Albert Worley, farmer residing one mile north of Covington suffered severe burns about the head and face and upper portion of the body near 8 o'clock last night when a coal oil lamp exploded, starting a fire that later completely destroyed the Worley home and several nearby buildings. Total loss is estimated at approximately $800 partially covered by insurance.
 At the time, Mr. Worley, according to meagre reports, was grinding a sickle using the coal oil lamp for light. An older son was assisting him at the time and the son suffered slight burns.  men's rapidly mounting stock. The dollar would be cheapened to the extent of the rise in the government fixed gold price and commodity prices would be expected to rise in direct proportion to the fall in the dollar if the administration should take this means to raise prices.
 President Roosevelt was reported considering appointment of a money committee or board to conduct the government's gold operations. Such a board was expected to be made up of representatives of the treasury and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.
 The activities were expected to be under the direction of Harvey Couch, a Democrat who was appointed to the board of directors of the RFC by former President Hoover at the time of its establishment nearly two years ago.
 Couch is a southwestern utilities magnate. He has been in charge of self-liquidation loan activities of the RFC and has had wide experience in banking, business and finance.
 He is familiar with Wall Street and foreign exchange affairs. His name appeared on a list of borrowers from Dillon, Reed & Co., revealed by Senate stock market investigators. Couch was appointed by the president yesterday to pump federal money into state banks which are not members of the federal reserve system.
 It was believed likely that treasury officials would assist Couch in his gold direction. Funds for the gold operations were expected to come directly from the treasury department which has a huge reserve of cash realized from recent bond sales.
